Message

I am glad to know that Al-Barkaat Institute of Management Studies, Aligarh is planning to publish its Quarterly Newsletter 'ABIMS Times' for the quarter October, 2013.

As a regular reader of this Newsletter I have observed that it has come a long way since its first appearance in October, 2009 and given to its readers detailed reports about the Institute, academic achievements of members of its faculty and students both in and outside the campus. The academic worth of the publication may, however, be further improved by including write ups on Challenges of the Indian Economy. There is no doubt that the Indian Economy has achieved an impressive rate of growth over successive Five Year Plans especially since 1991 compared to its previous experience and the performance of many other developing countries. But much still remains to end disparities and bring in a just socio-economic order. These problems need to be analysed carefully, since the macro-management of the economy is as important as the management of individual firms.

With these words I send my best wishes both for the Institute and its Newsletter. I am confident the Institute will continue working for a better quality product to prepare its students for successful careers and the 'ABIMS Times' will continue to enlighten us about the Institute and its good work.
